Dear Jim,

Welcome to the faculty of the MHA Program of the University of Illinois at Chicago School of Public Health.

We are all looking forward to you joining us as an active member of the faculty team overseeing the student consulting projects. These projects have become a highly visible and important component of the students' professional development. We believe that with your participation the student learning experience will improve, and the consulting projects will now also become a valuable part of our outreach into the community of institutional partners who help prepare our graduates for success in the real world that awaits them.

I know that your seminars on the Essentials of Consulting and the work overseeing the student consulting projects will also bring you the satisfaction of helping bring young professional into the healthcare field.

My best wishes,

Benn Greenspan
